Today we welcome the directors, manager, players and supporters of Hartlepool United. May I wish them all a very pleasant stay with us and a safe journey home.

Well, it's been another busy fortnight, during which we've beaten Woking 3-2 in the FA Cup to progress to the First Round Proper. As such, we now meet Wigan Athletic here on Saturday, November 7th.

We then beat a decent Middlesbrough Under-21 side 7-1 here to reach the quarter-finals of the National League Cup. We followed that result by beating a decent Fylde side 4-0, before beating Woking 2-1 away, both in the league.

So, after 15 league games, we remain unbeaten, have a goal difference of plus 26 and now sit ten points clear at the top of the table.

In truth, for a good year now, I've had so many people ask me, "What's been our secret?" over the last two and a half years, a period that has included a Play-Off win, a National League Cup win, an FA Cup Third Round appearance, a trip to Wembley and Play-Off defeat, followed by what I'm told is a record-breaking start to this season's National League campaign.

If you're one of those who's asked me "what the secret is" at our recent Over-60s Coffee Club, I possibly sound like a broken record, as I keep repeating that there is NO secret to what we are doing here, unless stability, hard work, future-proofing, planning, creating a competitive budget, cultivating partnerships, having great staff, mentoring a great manager, finding the resources to enable great recruitment and finding great players who represent value for money is somehow a secret...

Across the club, we are, like our town, very working-class, and we try to insist on 'old-school' values. It's no secret that, after an admittedly shaky start to my tenure in 1999/2000, we've stuck to our principles for nearly three decades.

We've not spent what we didn't have, we've communicated things to our supporters, partners and council in the correct manner, and we've quietly made steady headway. Trust me, it's not a secret. It's been a step-by-step process and, as an owner, I feel you must be in it for the long haul.

Anyone who knows us knows we are first and foremost a community football club. We are not woke or a social media-obsessed club. We do, though, internally use words like attitude, discipline and desire. We try to instil standards throughout our academy, first team and staff, and whether we win, lose or draw, we hope our club remains ambitious, gracious, polite, approachable and humble wherever possible.

That said, Luke Garrard is a driven manager who I respect for many reasons. Firstly, he has worked for me for over twenty years, and I think he's developed quite beautifully from a very young coach into an academy director, then an assistant manager and now our manager. But he's much more than that, as he's also a good husband, father and friend.

I trust him on the football side to lead our club. I'm always here when he needs advice, wants to vent or simply needs to offload, but I've encouraged him over the years to trust his instincts, and I want him to be guided by his heart at times.

His belief system is a simple one. If you turn on him, us or the club, then we will turn on you, and when that happens, it's perhaps the beginning of the end for certain individuals.

As an aside, did you read what I felt was a non-factual, slightly lazy and ill-informed article in the Non-League Paper about new foreign investment, owners and community buy-in?

Because of that article, I've looked at foreign investment more closely this week and feel that, because of overseas ownership, we might perhaps be slightly lucky this season. It's clear some foreign-owned clubs are very much in a transitional phase, many are saddled with debt, while some newer foreign owners appear to be learning from abroad when it comes to running a football club.

Other clubs, including newly promoted sides like Fylde and Kidderminster, are finding their feet and quietly settling back into this division. As such, it feels to me that two of the more stable and experienced clubs, namely Harrogate and ourselves, might just be slightly ahead of others in terms of our development, planning and recruitment this season.

After reading the Non-League Paper, and some might not be brave enough to say it, as a local man who has owned his local football club since 1999, I'm honestly not sure whether foreign ownership and unsecured investment quite work at our level, especially if many of these foreign owners continue to live abroad.

For perspective, I know how hard I work for this club, the hours I need to put in and the time it takes to keep it moving forward and keep the workforce on its toes. I'm just not sure how I could achieve the relationships, planning applications, problem-solving, additional investment, sponsorship, long-term partnerships and everything else needed if I wasn't in the country or available to meet my staff or people within my community.

At the moment, I am watching the foreign-owned club models more closely because, in some instances, we could be benefiting from their bespoke and untried business models. As an experienced football man who hugely respects every owner or investor who puts money into clubs, even if their fan bases call us 'tinpot', haha... I do feel a touch of concern on closer inspection when I see selective memory and promises made by owners from abroad that are not followed through.

I also see some of them now hiring companies and consultants who, in my opinion, inflate prices, take ridiculous fees and are unsuitable for the clubs' business models, but these types certainly know how to talk a good game.

A few discreet searches and phone calls have told me there are chancers out there ready to spend your money, leave your club skint and, in truth, lack any real business savvy, yet somehow manage to get themselves installed in key positions.

Some, I feel, have conflicts of interest or are perhaps glorified agents being employed as consultants, and so you have to wonder what the hell is going on at our level. For me, I simply don't understand why, if you don't eat, sleep and breathe a football club at our level, you would want to buy one.

Why would you want to buy a business that might kill you in the pocket, might lose you huge amounts of money, but then leave it to others less skilled than you to run while you continue living abroad? For me, if you truly care about your adopted community, then eat, sleep and breathe your football club because, trust me, your supporters certainly will.

For me, you must be there to enjoy the games, you must be seen to be at games, as it's you who must shape your club and lead your club. And please don't think your supporters are stupid if you make sporadic visits to your club as if you're the messiah.

A truly well-run community football club at our level takes investment, patience, care, attitude, discipline, desire, plus more money and time than you ever thought, and lots and lots of hard work. Trust me, the fans within your community are your lifeblood. They are watching, and they will either be your strength or your downfall. And if they turn on you, you're toast.

Even if new owners don't realise it at the start of their tenure, the supporters know from day one that the clock is ticking. This is not a game, this is not Russian roulette, our clubs are not toys, our football clubs are sacred, and most clubs at our level are the lifeblood of our towns and communities.

When I bought this football club back in 1999, I did it to save us from a possible buyer connected to another local club who allegedly intended to buy it, sell off our site for housing and use the proceeds to move our club elsewhere into a ground-share.

My father, who had managed here in the 60s and 70s, would have turned in his grave, and it's because of his memory that I bought the club. Of course, I doubt many of these new foreign owners will understand that, nor will they still be around in twenty years, but I might be wrong.

So tell me, after our community clubs are purchased, after the proclamations of love for the newly acquired clubs are reported and their promises to the clubs' loyal fans are documented, are they truly believable or genuine, and where are the protections?

Should we not be a tad concerned that some business entrepreneurs might be saying the right things by paying homage to the fans with the normal soundbites? So my question is, will they ever move here, will they ever make their clubs a true 'labour of love', and will they genuinely ever become part of their communities?

As you are aware, we now have an Independent Football Regulator, which, if used correctly, could perhaps be a good thing. That said, are they a decade too late? Worryingly, we now have around 40% of National League clubs owned by foreign backers or consortiums...

In my dealings to date with the IFR, if my experience is anything to go by, I'm simply not convinced they understand what the clubs at our level need. They certainly need to ensure that all foreign and domestic ownership is more heavily scrutinised, as they need to safeguard all clubs at our level.

In truth, I do not think some of our clubs are even viable businesses to invest in. So what will happen when foreign owners decide that their money is lost, or the criticism and abuse they will receive at some stage is simply too much to cope with, and decide to walk away?

My feeling is that any new owner or owners at our level should be made to put up a million-pound bond that is held on account as a safeguard, because if they cannot afford a million, then they cannot afford a football club at this level.

As a local man, I feel that after years and years of hard work, lots of setbacks, lots of investment and a lot of sleepless nights, I could have walked away a hundred times and left the club in a real mess. But because it's my club, town and community, I stayed, worked harder, spent a little more and finally built something special.

In fact, we now have one of the best managers in the league, and he's local. We now have some of the best players in the league, and they are either local or live locally, and believe me, that really helps.

Don't misconstrue my comments as being anti-foreign investment, because ownership and investment are two very different things. I'm simply looking ahead, and I cannot see enough meaningful safeguards in place to protect our clubs.

In fact, I cannot see any safeguards in place, other than the usual 'trust us' promises, but will that stop clubs from getting badly hurt?

In truth, I can see some very unhappy endings to some of these rushed foreign-backed takeovers, which are often wrapped up and presented to supporters and communities as the arrival of club saviours.

After 28 seasons of going through every emotion, I'm still here, and after years of quiet improvement, we are now embarking on a £4 million-plus New South Stand project that I hope will reshape our club and town and be a force for good.

The project is fully funded, the build is now well underway and, with a fair wind, it will be ready for next season, no matter what league we end up in.

That's taken relegations, promotions, many years of planning well, investing well, selling well, buying well and recruiting well. It's a project that's been put together step by step, without relying on huge crowds or any foreign investment.

It means we've had to be patient, but we are finally there, and yes, it's been a slow process to get to this point, but importantly, we will arrive at the end of this season with no historic debt.

For me to have created a great community club, you must have great local staff who love their club. If you lose them or are silly enough to get rid of them, trust me, you will lose the heartbeat of your club. Trust me, it takes years to find the right local people, but in my case, I now trust them with my life, and I know one day they will take me, our club, our town and our community into the promised land of the EFL.

They have, in my time here, shared the pain of our setbacks, relegations and my failures, so collectively they understand, even after our great start, that nothing, absolutely nothing, is ever a given in football, but we all dream the same dream.

In 28 seasons here, I've never had a group of people across the dressing room and entire club whom I would trust more than this lot to create club history for what is a tiny community football club. But I can feel there is total belief in what we've built and in what we are building. Not just for this season, but for the years ahead and the next generation of Wood fans.

If our supporters, sponsors and partners are reading these notes, I'll assume you are getting yourselves down to the games a tad more regularly and have seen the quality being produced by this young squad. You'll already know this is the best team and squad that I've ever seen here, and it's backed up by the best manager and associated staff that we've ever had at the club.

Anyway, that's enough of me and my diatribe. Let's get back to today, as Pete Wild's Hartlepool United arrive at Meadow Park looking to put a huge dent in our promotion hopes. As we know, Hartlepool are one of the biggest clubs outside the EFL but have experienced difficult times in recent years.

After today, we wish them and their fantastic supporters a successful season and an upturn in fortune.

Finally, whoever you support, let's hope for an open, attacking game, and may the best team win.

Take care,

Danny

Good afternoon. Firstly, I would like to welcome Pete Wild and his Hartlepool United players and staff to Meadow Park for today's National League fixture.

Hartlepool have had an up turn in results in the league since naming Pete as their new manager, recording two wins in their last three fixtures.

Having gone away from home to face Forest Green and to travel back up north with a huge three points would have given them huge confidence to really kick on and start to get some consistency in their season.

They travelled to AFC Fylde on Tuesday night where they were beaten 3-1 and I can imagine he would have felt slightly aggrieved having played some good football and had some big moments in the game.

We know the threats they possess and we have addressed them with the group and we need to make sure we continue with our level of performance to warrant another win this afternoon.

This will be our third game in a week and an opportunity to put another huge three points on the board, having played superbly for large periods on Saturday and to then back that up with a huge away win on Tuesday was very pleasing.

Having gone through all our metrics from the last two matches it's showing that the work we are doing is very evident and being displayed on the pitch, we are hot on certain aspects we want to hit and the dressing room is aware of that.

The way we present is by design, so when you see us making short passes and having large periods of possession away from the opposition goal there is genuinely a purpose to this.

I get there could be a frustration for us to go and attack with every opportunity but we have a structure that we need to adhere to and have the players in their slots to create certain overloads and patterns where we have identified as hurting the opposition.

We have now registered our 21st goal in the last 30 minutes of a match and I know that is because of the way we have moved the ball and more importantly the opposition for the first 60 minutes.

You can see when the game gets into the championship rounds we are still fresh and showing an intensity to hurt the opposition where as they are less intense and they have really maxed out in their work load and when you have the finishers we have coming off the bench to exploit this it's been a huge part of our thought process in the lead up to any fixture.

What does success look like? I don't just ask my players to "pass for the sake of passing", I ask them to have volume and quality with our attacks. Whether that is one ball in behind with quality, or 34 passes before breaching the opposition press I honestly don't care.

As staff we give the players scenarios and pictures that we feel will be presented on the day and we have to have the solutions to find the answers and solve anything that is being thrown at us.

The players have to take full credit for our current form, their performances have been excellent and their belief, confidence and attitude to their work has been incredible.

The most pleasing aspect to the way they are as a group is their Monday to Friday, their application day to day and their standards that they all hold each other accountable for is why I genuinely believe we are having success.

We speak about competition within the dressing room, that's all well and good but there has to be a demand from everyone, especially when it comes to their work on the grass and the way in which they train and the way they push each other daily is telling me why this group can maintain the levels.

Let's now finish off this week off with maximum points and go into the cup next Saturday on a high.

Get right behind the boys and collectively get this place rocking.

I hope you enjoy the game and look forward to seeing you all.

Be loud. Be proud. B'Wood.

Luke

Feature interview: Ted Curd

"We know that we are going to score goals, so if we can limit the opposition to scoring one goal or none, we will find ourselves on the right side of the result."

Such a formidable start to the season, which has seen a ten-point lead at the summit open up, is a testament not to individual brilliance but to a collective team effort - Ted Curd has been at the heart of that.

Returning to Meadow Park on loan at the start of September after a fruitful spell last season, the Chelsea youngster has nailed down the number one shirt and has been key in helping the side boast the meanest defence in the division.

The 20-year-old reflects on the factors behind the early-season success.

"We have a great mix of quality, belief and tactical understanding," Curd explained.

"We take each game as it comes and always have a clear plan on how we are going to beat the opposition.

"That will be no different heading into Hartlepool United at the weekend which is another tough test."

Curd is also keen to highlight the importance of a resolute rearguard, with just 14 league goals shipped so far.

"On the defensive side, we all work so hard to limit chances and everyone takes pride in defending our box," the former England youth international said.

"We know that we are going to score goals, so if we can limit the opposition to scoring one goal or none, we will find ourselves on the right side of the result."

That defensive resilience was on full display in Tuesday's comeback victory over Woking where although Josh Kelly drew first blood on 23 minutes, the Wood fought back to secure an eighth league win on the spin thanks to strikes from Tylor Golden and Regan Booty.

Curd underlines the squad's belief to fight back when falling behind.

"It's incredibly important to be able to find a way to win when the opposition are making it difficult for us," he explained.

"I think the main reason we are continually able to do this is because of the belief that we have as a group that we are going to score.

"Sometimes we have to be patient and wait for the right opportunity, but we know those chances will come."

The ex-Hashtag United and Hampton & Richmond Borough loanee has been in Hertfordshire for his second spell for just over two months now, starting in the last four league games.

Curd believes the continuity from last season has been instrumental in helping him settle back in so quickly.

"It has been great being back at the club and playing games," he said.

"It has been easy to settle back in because the core group of players and staff have remained the same and I feel like that has been massive for our success so far this season.

"All of us are familiar with the gaffer's demands and when new players arrive, we can help them have an impact straightaway."

In the dugout

Pete Wild

Manager • Last club managed: Tranmere Rovers

Pete Wild took charge of Pools at the beginning of October, bringing a wealth of experience to Victoria Park. The 42-year-old began coaching at Oldham Athletic, famously guiding the Latics to an FA Cup win at Premier League Fulham while in caretaker charge. He went on to lead Halifax Town to the National League play-offs, then managed Barrow, Fleetwood Town, and Tranmere Rovers, where he secured League Two survival.

One's to watch

Jordan Hughill

Forward • 04/06/1992 (34) • Last club: Rotherham United Hugill returned to Victoria Park during the summer as one of Pools' 14 new additions. The Middlesbrough-born striker first arrived on loan in 2015, scoring four goals in eight games, including a winner against Exeter City that helped spark Pools' great escape from relegation. Since then, his career has taken him to the Premier League with West Ham United after impressing while at Preston North End. The 34-year-old has also enjoyed spells at Norwich City, where he won the Championship title, and Rotherham. To date, he has amassed 468 senior appearances, scoring 96 goals.

Will Harris

Forward • 01/10/2000 (26) • Last club: FC Halifax Town

South Shields-born striker Will Harris arrived at Victoria Park in June after the most prolific season of his career. The forward fired 22 goals in 43 National League appearances to help Halifax Town reach the 2025-26 play-offs. The 26-year-old has scored three goals this term and offers Pools pace and a relentless work ethic in attack. After coming through Burnley's academy, the forward has also represented Sunderland, Barrow, Gateshead, and Scunthorpe United.

Luke Charman

Forward • 09/12/1997 (28) • Last club: AFC Fylde

Charman is now in his third season at Victoria Park after joining from AFC Fylde in June 2024. The Newcastle United academy graduate found his scoring touch at Darlington, hitting 17 goals in 29 appearances, before stepping up to represent Rochdale and helping Fylde to the National League North title. Direct, combative, and able to play centrally or out wide, Charman is a versatile attacker who has become a key figure for Pools, contributing eight goals and ten assists in 76 appearances.

Boreham Wood were forced to settle for a point at Hartlepool United despite dominating proceedings at the Prestige Group Stadium.

Wood created several opportunities in the first half, with Matt Rush, Luke Norris and Abdul Abdulmalik all threatening, but goalkeeper Harvey Cartwright kept the visitors at bay.

The hosts were reduced to ten men nine minutes after the restart when Max Kouogun was sent off for bringing down Norris as he ran through on goal. However, despite sustained pressure, Luke Garrard's side were unable to find a breakthrough, with Hartlepool holding firm to secure a point.

Classic campaigns: Hartlepool United

Football historian Leigh Edwards selects ten post-war Hartlepool United 'Classic Campaigns'

1956/57

Hartlepool United narrowly failed to win promotion to the Second Division in 1956/57. Hartlepools kicked off with a 5-1 victory at home to Chesterfield and raced to the top of the table with just two defeats in their first 16 matches. Ace marksman Ken Johnson scored four goals in both games as they hammered Southport 6-1, then Tranmere 5-1. Long-serving manager Fred Westgarth died in February, shortly after Hartlepools had lost 4-3 at home to Manchester United in an epic FA Cup third round tie watched by a record 17,246. Hartlepools were shocked by his death and finished Third Division (North) runners-up.

1967/68

Hartlepool United won promotion for the first time in 1967/68. Gus McLean replaced Brian Clough as manager and new signings included George Smith, Alan Goad and Wilson Hepplewhite. Pools were unbeaten in their opening four games and overcame a lean spell to surge up the Fourth Division table with ten wins in 13 games, including a Christmas double over rivals Darlington. Bobby Cummings arrived in February and partnered top scorer Terry Bell as Hartlepools were undefeated in their last 16 matches and clinched promotion with a 2-0 win at Swansea. John McGovern soon followed Brian Clough to Derby.

1974/75

New manager Ken Hale plotted Hartlepool's best-ever League Cup run in 1974/75. They beat Workington 2-1 in the first round, then Bournemouth 1-0 in a second round third replay and Blackburn 2-1 in a third round replay to reach the fourth round for the first and only time. Malcolm Moore's goal clinched a 1-1 draw at home to eventual winners Aston Villa: Barry Watling, Rob Smith, Jimmy Shoulder, Malcolm Dawes, Alan Goad, George Potter, John Honour, Allan Gauden, Malcolm Moore, Frank McMahon, Mick Spelman. The highlight of the League campaign was a 5-0 win over Rochdale as they finished mid-table.

1988/89

Hartlepool United featured in the FA Cup fifth round draw for only the second time in 1988/89. They were early pace-setters in the Fourth Division with five wins in their opening six games before a barren spell led to Bobby Moncur replacing John Bird as manager in October. Hartlepool beat Wigan Athletic 2-0, Notts County 1-0 and Bristol City 1-0 in the FA Cup before drawing 1-1 at home to Bournemouth in the fourth round: Rob Moverley, Tony Barratt, Rob McKinnon, John Tinkler, Wayne Stokes, Paul Baker, Brian Honour, Andy Toman, Joe Allon, Simon Grayson, Paddy Atkinson. They were defeated 5-2 in the replay.

1990/91

Joe Allon scored 28 goals as Hartlepool United won promotion in 1990/91. Hartlepool began with a 3-2 victory at Chesterfield and John MacPhail arrived from Sunderland in September as they overcame a barren spell to soar up the Fourth Division table with six wins in seven matches. Brian Dalton grabbed a hat-trick in Hartlepool's 5-1 win at Aldershot and Alan Murray replaced the dying Cyril Knowles as manager in March. Loan keeper Kevin Poole took over in goal as Hartlepool remained unbeaten in their last 14 games, starting with a 4-1 victory at Maidstone and clinching promotion with a 3-1 win at home to Northampton.

1999/00

Chris Turner guided Hartlepool United to the Third Division play-offs for the first time in 1999/2000. They made a disappointing start, with a 3-0 victory at Carlisle the only win in their first seven games, but results improved as Martin Hollund kept a clean sheet in nine successive home matches. Leading marksman Tommy Miller grabbed a hat-trick in the 3-0 win over Barnet and Hartlepool climbed into the promotion frame by January after four straight wins. Paul Stephenson was ever-present as they pipped Cheltenham to the final play-off place with a 3-0 win at Hull on the last day but lost 3-0 to Darlington in the semi-finals.

2000/01

Kevin Henderson and Tommy Miller scored 33 goals between them as Hartlepool United qualified for the Third Division play-offs again in 2000/01. Tony Lormor made his debut as Hartlepool began with a 2-0 victory at Lincoln but they were languishing in mid-table by November before the arrival of Mark Tinkler and return of Micky Barron sparked a record 21-match unbeaten run. Craig Midgley netted a hat-trick as they hammered Barnet 6-1, their biggest League win for 41 years, and Chris Turner's side remained in fourth place for the last three months of the season. Hartlepool lost 5-1 to Blackpool in the play-offs.

2002/03

Hartlepool United won promotion for the third time in their history in 2002/03. They stormed to the top with just one defeat in their opening ten games, including a 4-1 victory over Darlington. Mark Tinkler netted a hat-trick and newcomer Marcus Richardson scored as Hartlepool beat Wrexham 4-3, shortly before Mike Newell replaced Chris Turner as manager in November. They remained in pole position for seven months but finished runners-up after drawing 1-1 at Rushden in a last day title decider. Eifion Williams was leading scorer, while Anthony Williams, Richie Humphreys and Chris Westwood were ever-present.

2004/05

Hartlepool United maintained their upward progress as they were League One play-off finalists in 2004/05. Early form was inconsistent and they were mid-table by December before a nine-match unbeaten run lifted them into the promotion race, slamming five goals past Wrexham and MK Dons, then taking Brentford to an FA Cup fourth round replay. Top scorer Adam Boyd netted a hat-trick in a 3-0 win at home to Sheffield Wednesday in April, then Martin Scott replaced Neale Cooper as manager just before Hartlepool drew 2-2 at Bournemouth to pip them to the last play-off place. They lost 4-2 to Sheffield Wednesday in the final.

2006/07

Hartlepool United regained League One status at the first attempt in 2006/07. They gained just two points from their opening five games under new manager Danny Wilson before results improved, winning 5-3 at Peterborough. Captain Micky Barron returned from injury, while Andy Monkhouse and Richie Barker arrived from Swindon and Mansfield respectively. Hartlepool soared to the top of the table by March after a club record 23 match unbeaten run, including a record nine successive wins. They clinched promotion with a 1-0 victory at Wycombe but were pipped to the title by Walsall on the final day of the season.
